#TytoTech500

London, 21 November 2024 – Tram Anh Nguyen, CFTE's Co-founder, has been recognised as one of the UK's top 50 tech influencers in the latest edition of the Tyto Tech 500. This ranking celebrates influential figures shaping Europe's technological ecosystem, including business leaders, journalists, and academics. Her inclusion highlights her significant impact on the Fintech space and her role in advancing financial technology education globally.

CFTE is proud to see Tram Anh Nguyen featured alongside trailblazers such as Richard Branson, Sarah Knapton, Demis Hassabis, and Mark Carney.

Tram Anh is instrumental in providing lifelong learning solutions working with governments, policymakers, industry experts, and academia to push initiatives in financial and technology literacy worldwide, while addressing the pressing need for upskilling in an increasingly tech-driven world.

As Co-founder of CFTE, an EdTech startup focused on financial technology education, Tram Anh's work has been instrumental in empowering professionals and organisations to navigate cutting-edge topics such as AI, blockchain, and RegTech. Her leadership resonates deeply with CFTE's mission to prepare a global workforce for the rapidly evolving financial landscape.

“Technology is transforming the way we work, but it's vital to ensure that people remain at the centre of our efforts. I have always believed that financial inclusion and education are fundamental to creating a future where everyone has the opportunity to participate and thrive. Innovation is key to unlocking opportunities and equipping the workforce of tomorrow. I am proud to champion this vision by empowering individuals with the skills and knowledge to not just adapt to change, but to lead it—building a more inclusive and sustainable financial ecosystem for all. I am truly honoured to be recognized in the Tyto Tech 500 among such inspiring leaders.*”

Together, let's continue driving this important work forward"
